

Tigers: Claws and Jaws

Tigers are large cats. They are the largest wild cats in the world. Tigers have four paws. They cannot use their paws to draw. On each paw are claws. Tigers pull their claws in when they walk. They do not leave claw marks in their tracks. Tigers do not caw like birds. They roar. Tigers hunt for their food. When a tiger sees some food, it opens its jaws and takes a big bite. Tigers eat their food raw. They cover the leftovers with straw and dirt. Then, they come back later to eat more.
